Hardy Durkin Meets New and Deadly Nemesis in “Engadine Aerie”

Hardy Durkin is at it again in Engadine Aerie, the new novel in the travel mystery series by Blurette Matthey. Trained in Sigint, a crack marksman, and fluent in four languages, Hardy is no stranger to daring rescues and narrow brushes with death. From dungeons in the Black Forest to sailing expeditions, Hardy’s experience and training have helped prepare him for his most dangerous adventure yet.

Durkin is headed to the pristine Engadine Valley in Switzerland with the Skimarathon in mind. He is detoured by a gruesome body found in the snow and an exotic beauty. While assisting TIGRIS in the hunt for a terrorist arms buyer he narrowly escapes two attempts on his life and meets a new and very deadly nemesis.

Blurette Matthey is a third-generation Swiss American and an avid lover of European cultures. She has decades of travel and writing experience. She is a keen reader of mysteries, especially those that immerse the reader in the history, inhabitants, culture, and cuisine of new places. Her passion for travel, except airports (where she always carries mystery novels to pass the time), is shared by her husband, who owned a tour outfitter business in Europe.

Engadine Aerie is available in softcover (ISBN 978-1-941611-11-1) from Virtualbookworm.com, Amazon.com, and Barnesandnoble.com. This book can also be ordered from most bookstores around the United States and United Kingdom. For more information on the author or the book, please go to www.bluettematthey.com.
